How is the School Parent Compact Developed?

Chestnut Log Middle School parents, students, staff, and teachers contributed to the development of the school-parent compact. Teachers provided home learning strategies, parents added ideas to make the strategies more specific, and students communicated strategies that they thought would be most beneficial to them. Meetings are held throughout the year to review and revise the compact. Revisions of the compact are based on the needs of the students and the academic achievement goals of the school.

Parents can provide feedback on the parent-school compact any time using our comment cards (housed in the PRC), attending the Parent Advisory Meetings, or via e-mail or telephone. For more information about the compact or about submitting input, please contact the Family Engagement Contact at (770) 651-5108.

TEACHERS, PARENTS, STUDENTS TOGETHER FOR SUCCESS

IN OUR SEVENTH GRADE CLASSROOM

The seventh grade teachers will work with students and their families to develop students' academic success in ELA/Reading and Mathematics. We will work with students and families in the following ways:

- Provide parents with curriculum and instructional materials, the student learning map, and information to assist students in progressing through, and mastering, standards. This will be done through individual meetings/conferences, group informational sessions, blogs, and items mailed or sent home.
- Share with parents study techniques to develop their child's study skills in ELA/Reading and Math class such as creating a structured routine for studying daily, designating at least 20 minutes a day to review the class notes and create questions that they may have about the content.
- Update the school's website on a regular basis and include links to content specific material and research sites to enable students and parents/guardians to explore and work on content.

AT HOME

Chestnut Log Middle School parents joined staff to develop ideas about how families can support students' academic success in ELA/Reading and Math. Some of our key at-home activities will be:

- Supporting students and staff by maintaining an active Parent Portal account and using this to monitor student progress and grades in classes.
- Attend parent workshops at the school with my child to learn ways to study ELA/Reading and Math vocabulary at home.

Support student achievement by discussing what content standards they are currently learning in ELA/Reading and Math and how they can connect these standards to their everyday life.

CHESTNUT LOG MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS

Chestnut Log Middle School students joined staff and parents to develop ideas about how they can succeed in school, in Math and ELA/Reading. Students thought of the following ideas to make connections between learning at home and school:

- Assess work on different math problems or reading passages in areas that I am struggling in with my parent.
- Complete a family fun activity in Math or ELA/Reading with my parents once a month.
- Use flashcards to review vocabulary words with my parent.
- Discuss topics I learned in class with my parents weekly.
- Check grades with my parents using Parent Portal.
